How Mumbai police's 17-year hunt for murder accused who would flee to Bangladesh ended

SAGAR RAJPUT
MUMBAI, JANUARY 16

ON OCTOBER 15, 2007, when a 35-year-old South Mumbai businessman was stabbed to death at his Navy Nagar home, the Cuffe Parade police believed it was a cut-and-dried case. The murder had occurred in front of the businessman's wife and the police knew the identity of the accused and the motive. What they did not foresee was that it would take them 17 years to arrest the man — an accused with a penchant for fleeing to Bangladesh every time the police closed in on him.

According to police officials, Raju Kalu Haji Sheikh and his business partner Nilanchal Panigrahi were subcontractors who moved to Mumbai in the early 2000s. As their business flourished, Sheikh and Panigrahi earned more than a lakh each month.

A financial dispute soon emerged between them as Sheikh believed that Panigrahi had cheated him by overpricing the raw materials bought for the construction work. Subsequently, on the night of October 15, 2007, while the duo was having dinner at Panigrahi's home in Cuffe Parade, they had an argument. In a fit of rage, Sheikh allegedly grabbed a knife from the kitchen and stabbed Panigrahi multiple times. Initially, a case under the relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) for causing grievous hurt with a dangerous weapon was registered on the complaint of Panigrahi's wife Jayanti. However, after Panigrahi succumbed to his injuries, Section 302 (murder) of the IPC was added to the FIR. The search for Sheikh began. Different teams from the Cuffe Parade police station visited his native place in West Bengal but returned empty-handed. "Sheikh is from Berhampore in West Bengal, which is very close to the Bangladesh border. After committing the murder, he escaped to his native place. Whenever our team went there to apprehend him, the news would reach him, and he would cross over to Bangladesh," an officer from the Cuffe Parade police station said.

As the police failed to apprehend Sheikh, the investigation was closed in 2014. However, it was later reopened with the court's permission in 2020.

"After we resumed the investigation in 2020, our team visited his native place again and learned that he was in Bangladesh. We then cultivated some sources in his native place and stayed in touch with them over the years," the officer added.

On November 23, 2024, one of the sources informed the police that Sheikh was admitted to a rehab centre in Berhampore where he was undergoing treatment to overcome his alcohol addiction.

Soon after receiving this information, a team comprising sub-inspector Ajay Raikar and constables Sandip Tandel, Prakash Tokde and Kishore Rathod was dispatched. Sheikh was apprehended at the rehab centre with the help of the local police.

"If he had been at home, he would have gotten information of our arrival and escaped to Bangladesh again," an investigator said.

Sheikh is currently in jail, awaiting trial.

NURSERY ADMISSIONS

Overwhelming response to BMC's public schools offering non-state board curriculum

PALLAVISMART
MUMBAI, JANUARY 16

THE BRIHANMUMBAI Municipal Corporation-run Mumbai Public Schools, which offer non-state board curriculum such as Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) and Indian Certificate of School Education (ICSE), continue to get overwhelming response to its call for admissions. As the admission application process for the academic year 2025-26 concluded on Wednesday, a total of 2,459 applications have been received for 1,242 seats available in a total of 21 MPS offering various non-state board curriculums.

These applications are all for nursery class admissions which is the entry level stage in pre-primary section at any school. BMC education officer Rajesh Kankal said, "This clearly indicates great response for civic schools in Mumbai. This decision to offer more popular non-state board curriculums in MPS has really attracted many parents to civic schools of varied demographics. We now see children from well-to-do families taking admission in MPS due to good quality of education coupled with many facilities that are offered to students at civic schools."

The civic body will follow the lottery process to finally allot seats to applicants as the number of applications is almost double than available seats. According to officials from BMC's education department, with so many applications, the lottery is the best to offer transparent seat allotment. Civic schools have traditionally offered Maharashtra State Board curriculum. However, with rebranding of BMC schools as MPS, it started a new trend of offering a more popular non-state board curriculum in civic schools in 2020. Even as it started with one school each affiliated to CBSE and ICSE curriculum, it soon started offering more such schools considering the demand. Currently there are 21 Mumbai Public Schools where BMC education department offers different non-state board curriculum.

Out of 21 MPS, there are 18 which offer CBSE curriculum which is most popular among MPS parents whereas there is one school each offering ICSE, IGCE (International General Certificate of Secondary Education) and IB (International Baccalaureate) curriculum. With a greater number of schools, there are a total of 1,122 seats available for admissions in CBSE schools. For newer IGCE and IB, there are 28 seats per school. Whereas there are a total 68 seats available at the single ICSE school. Further, depending on the popularity of schools, there are some MPS who have received more admission applications than others.

BECOMES 4TH NATION TO ACHIEVE THE FEAT

A first: Isro docks 2 satellites in space

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Bengaluru, January 16

IN A MAJOR boost to India's ambitious future space missions, ISRO on Thursday successfully performed the docking of satellites as part of the Space Docking Experiment (SpaDeX) and announced that post docking, control of two satellites as a single object was also achieved.

"India docked its name in space history! Good Morning India ISRO's SpaDeX mission accomplishes historic docking success. Proud to witness this moment!", ISRO said in an 'X'.

With the successful docking of satellites—Chaser and Target—India has become the fourth country after the US, Russia and China to accomplish the technological feat. In space, docking technology is essential when multiple rocket launches are required to achieve common mission objectives.

The docking experiment is crucial for the smooth conduct of the country's ambitious future missions, including Chandrayaan-4, Gaganyaan, setting up a space station and landing an astronaut on the moon.

Last October, the government announced that India will have its own Space Station by 2035, known as the "Bharatiya Antriksh Station".

Docking experiment is vital for ensuring the success of India's ambitious future missions, including Chandrayaan-4, Gaganyaan, establishing a space station, and landing an astronaut on the Moon

Modi in a post on 'X' greeted the scientists for the achievement. He said: "Congratulations to our scientists at @isro and the entire space fraternity for the successful demonstration of space docking of satellites. It is a significant stepping stone for India's ambitious space missions in the years to come."

Further, ISRO said: "Post docking, control of two satellites as a single object is successful. Undocking and power transfer checks to follow in coming days." Hailing ISRO, minister of state for science, technology and space, Jitendra Singh said on 'X': "Congrats #ISRO. Finally made it. SPADEX has accomplished the unbelievable...docking complete...and it is all indigenous 'Bharatiya Docking System'."

Bezos blasts into commercial space race

BLUE ORIGIN'S GIANT New Glenn rocket blasted off from Florida early Thursday morning on its first mission to space, an inaugural step into Earth's orbit for Jeff Bezos' space company as it aims to rival SpaceX in the satellite launch business.

Thirty stories tall with a reusable first stage, New Glenn launched around 2 am ET (0700 GMT) from Blue Origin's launchpad at the Cape Canaveral Space Force Station, its seven engines thundering for miles under cloudy skies on its second liftoff attempt this week.

"We hit our key, critical, number-one objective, we got to orbit safely," Blue Origin VP Ariane Cornell said.

The rocket's reusable first stage booster was due to land on a barge in the Atlantic Ocean after separating from its second stage, but failed to make that landing, Cornell confirmed.

The culmination of multi-billion-dollar development journey, the mission marks Blue Origin's first trek to Earth's orbit in the 25 years since Bezos founded the company. —REUTERS

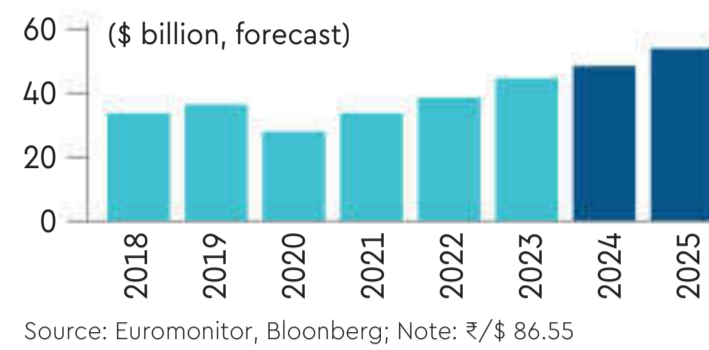

Spirits makers eye India as next big market

DASHA AFANASIEVA & ADVAIT PALEPU
January 16

IN HIGH SPIRITS

India's alcoholic drinks market ing in India rose 27% in the five years leading up to 2023 and is expected to increase 12% this year, according to Euromonitor.

Pernod beat Diageo as India's biggest spirits producer last year by sales, but there isn't much daylight between them. India is Diageo's largest market by volume, while India has already overtaken China to become Pernod's second-biggest market by sales after the US.

Factory network

Diageo's Alwar whiskey distillery is located in Rajasthan, where temperatures hit 31 degrees celsius on the day Bloomberg News visited. Diageo entered the Indian market in 2013 when it acquired a majority stake in picking up 140 local brands in the process. Royal Challenge, McDowell's and Signature, are all blended whiskies that can retail for as little as $5. They are the primary driver of Diageo's revenue in India.

Rival Pernod Ricard has been in India since 1993, but the Absolut Vodka and Chivas Regal maker only properly turned its attention to the market at the turn of the millennium when it bought some of Seagram's brands, including Indian whiskies Imperial Blue and Blender's Pride.

Sales in India now account for 12% of the spiritmaker's global revenue, and the aim is to triple that within the next decade. The strategy is to push sales of Blender's Pride and single malt Longitude 77, Pernod's more premium whiskies.

Pernod Ricard has 23 bottling plants in 17 states. It's investing up to €200 million in India to build what will be one of India's biggest malt distilleries in Maharashtra.

Rising rich

With 8% growth last year, India is the world's fastest expanding economy. Despite inflation, climate change, and ever-evolving geopolitical risk, PwC reckons India can exceed a per capita income of $26,000 – almost 13 times the current level – by 2047. By that same year, the middle class is expected to rise from a third to 60% of the population, according to the think-tank People Research on India's Consumer Economy.

Big Booze isn't the only sector targeting the rich Indians of tomorrow. International banks and wealth managers are also clamoring for a share.

The number of individuals with more than $30 million in investable assets is expected to grow 50% between 2023 and 2028, according to Knight Frank's wealth report. Global banks are expanding their wealth management teams to serve the rising rich across the country, and early movers may well reap the rewards.

Distribution accounting

While India isn't the only country that takes a federalist approach to its alcohol policy – the US is another – its licensing and labeling and tariff requirements are unparalleled.

Excise duty alone ate up almost 60% of Diageo's revenue in India in the last reported year. Thanks to interstate duties and local state taxes and excise, the cost of moving whiskey across the country can be astronomical, and is only viable for the most expensive products. That explains much of the variation in price: a bottle of Godawan that retails for ₹5,400 in Mumbai (about 1,200 km from Diageo plant) is available for ₹3,980 in Lucknow (500 km away).

Diageo and Pernod Ricard, two of the world's biggest spirits companies, sell more than 123 mn cases of spirits in India annually

India's alcohol regulation can be so overreaching that some have allegedly sought to seek ways to exploit it.

One executive at Pernod was arrested, jailed and is currently out on bail in relation to a fraud investigation linked to efforts to privatise New Delhi's state-run liquor stores. The scandal dates back to 2022, when members of the city's ruling party were accused of taking bribes in exchange for liquor licences. Nearly three years later, Pernod is still being denied a licence to operate in the capital, and even the Delhi chief minister was imprisoned for five months over the saga.

Pernod denies all allegations and the matter is currently before the courts.

In an alleyway in downtown Patna, the capital of Bihar, the smell of alcohol hangs in the air. Two disheveled men hawk mahua, a homemade liquor made of sweet flowers, from large silver pots next to a tray of eggs. There are as many as twenty such vendors across the city, where a total booze ban has been in place since 2017.

Getting caught knocking back a shot of mahua could lead to a prison sentence of up to a decade. Even a drinker's relatives could be subject to punishment.

Whether or not alcohol is banned, said Pulkit Prakash, a lawyer from Bihar, drinkers will always find a way to keep the booze flowing. "Someone will take the risk," he said of smugglers.

As drink makers try to gain a stronghold in every state, such abstentionist attitudes are complicating their efforts.

One bright spot for them is Gurugram, a satellite town near New Delhi that's less than a two-hour-flight from Patna. Dubbed the alcohol capital of India, it's where taxes are low, liquor stores can stay open until 4am and drinkers can get home delivery. And thanks to the presence of multinationals like American Express and JP Morgan, residents have plenty of options for after-work drinks.
